DETAILED ACTION

Note of the claimed language:

The term "capable of", which is equivalent as "adapted to or configured to", performing a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison USPQ 138.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kitano et al. (U.S. Patent 6,465,876).

As to claim 1, Kitano discloses a tape carrier for TAB as shown in figures 1-6, comprising: a carrying support film (6 or 9) and individual pieces of flexible wiring boards (3), each of which includes an electrically insulating base layer made of a resin film (column 5, line 28) and an electric conductor layer (4) made of a metal foil or copper foil (column 5, lines 29-31) having a predetermined wiring circuit pattern, wherein said flexible wiring boards (3) are mounted at regular intervals on mounting portions of said carrying support film (6) and wherein an entire surface of each of the flexible wiring boards (3) and an entire surface of each the mounting portions are bonded to each other through an adhesive agent (20).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 4 and 9-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kitano in view of Nakamura (the references cited in the record).

As to claims 4, 12, Kitano does not specific disclose the support film and the insulating base layer made by polyimide film. Nakamura shows the insulating base layer and carrying support film (3) is a polyimide film (column 6, lines 65-67 and column 7, lines 33-43).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have a teaching of Nakamura employed in the TAB of Kitano in order to provide an excellent flexure and good in heat dissipation.

As to claims 9-11, Kitano as modified by Nakamura discloses a thickness of said electrically insulating base layer (2) is in a range from 3 μm to 100 μm (column 6, lines 64-65) and a thickness of said conductor layer (foil 35) is in a range from 3 μm to 50 μm (column 8, line 30).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 4, and 9-12 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
